Gender Equality Month & Transgender Day of Visibility

Commemorated every March, Gender Equality Month aims to raise awareness about gender biases and challenges. Historically, these inequalities have been depicted within a binary framework, primarily focusing on the success and achievements of women. However, in the 21st century, it is crucial to recognize gender disparities affect individuals across the entire gender spectrum.

As we recognize Gender Equality Month, we also want to bring awareness to International Transgender Day of Visibility, celebrated on March 31st. Transgender Day of Visibility is dedicated to celebrating the contributions of the trans community and promoting the right to individuality and self-expression in all spaces. Additionally, Transgender Day of Visibility is meant to bring awareness to the violence experienced against transgender individuals.

Gender Equality Month & Transgender Day of Visibility intersect in their mission to promote visibility, recognition, and equality for marginalized gender identities. By aligning these observances, we want to enhance the collective effort towards building a more inclusive and equitable society that acknowledges and celebrates the diverse spectrum of gender identities and experiences.
